

BCyber has been shortlisted for the Australian Accounting Awards 2021.

BCyber has been named as a finalist in the Australian Accounting Awards for Innovator of the Year.

The Australian Accounting Awards recognises and acknowledges the achievements of individuals and firms whether they are in the profession's most senior ranks or if they are a rising star within the industry and rewards them with a prestigious and highly sought-after accolade and national exposure for their contributions.

The 2021 awards will be like no other, shining a light on the professionals and firms who lead the charge in the industry during a time of unprecedented change through the past year of constant obstacles and challenges.

The finalist list, which was announced on 11 May 2021, features over 300 high-achieving accounting professionals across 36 submission-based categories.

"Accounting professionals have been at the forefront of the economic crisis since the start of the pandemic and each of you have risen to the challenge to support your clients and the broader community," said Jotham Lian, editor at Accountants Daily.

"To the finalists of this year's awards, congratulations for consistently delivering the best service and outcomes for your clients over the past 12 months. I thank you for the vital work that you do, and we look forward to celebrating your achievements on the night."

Graham Chee, Managing Director and Co-Founder at BCyber, said that he was humbled to be recognised and proud to be named as a finalist in the Australian Accounting Awards 2021.

"BCyber's recognition for our excellent contribution to the accounting and finance industry reinforces the strength of our service and dedication to connecting with the community and engaging with clients," he added.
